TRANSFORMATIVE LEADER PROGRAMME

January – June 2024

Michael Dunlop | Lynn McKeown
Power of Choice Ltd

What is the Transformative Leader Programme?

This unique and award-winning programme was originally created in response to some of the key challenges facing senior leaders across public services during the pandemic.

The programme has since evolved to support leaders to optimise the opportunities and meet the challenges in their roles.

It deals with the realities and challenges of leadership, including uncertainty, stress and anxiety, the isolation of the role and the desire to transform public services for the better in systems that are often resistant to change.

The Transformative Leader Programme is your opportunity to join a group of senior leaders across Northern Ireland's public service to share experiences and challenges, build relationships and partnerships and spend time with passionate, driven, outcome focused individuals.

We bring together exceptional senior leaders to explore effective approaches, frameworks and support systems for leading yourself, leading others and achieving more of the outcomes you want with confidence.

Delivered on a hybrid basis over six months, the programme incorporates webinars, action learning and one-to-one coaching. It uses approaches developed from Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP) & Systems Thinking, exploring habitual patterns of thinking, communication and behaviour in yourself and others and how small changes can improve outcomes and increase your ability to understand, influence and engage more effectively with stakeholders, colleagues and your team.

Who is it for?

If you want to evaluate and enhance your personal leadership approaches; seek out new thinking; experience an insightful personal journey of positive change for yourself and others and join a growing network of TL alumni across senior levels of NI's public services, then the Transformative Leader Programme is for you.

If you are considering or have identified that personal resilience, having a range of practical leadership tools and techniques, clarity of skills and strategies in how you make a difference or that your level of influence and confidence and your personal or professional growth is important to you, then this could be the journey for you.

If you want the support to effect real change and continue to make a difference, we would love to hear from you.
